City's Fire and Ambulance Volunteers Are Dedicated Self-Respecting Family

by Steve Galanis

It's night time. A group of guys done with their day's work are seated in front of a blackboard being drilled on topics like backdrafts, and flashovers. A hearty discussion unfolds. Suddenly the discussion stops and everyone freezes so they can hear the muffled voice over the radio. "That's us," someone yells, breaking the silence, and everyone runs for the exit, grabs his gear, and jumps on one or the other of two of the red engines parked in the adjacent garage.

Greenbelt's volunteer firefighters are an outfit, a club, and in a very real respect members of a family. When a call comes in alerting the men of a fire or a first aid/rescue situation, the response falls into place quite naturally, in accordance with the Department's command structure, firefighter training levels, and understood preferences.

Their station and line of work are shared during daytime hours by paid career firefighters, who are employed by the county. The long-standing animosity between the two groups is well known.

"We're ticks in their eyes," says Sgt. Barry Byers - one of the station's three full-time volunteer live-ins. Byers loves being a firefighter and doesn't accept the idea that paid men are any more professional than volunteers.

"We are trained the same," he says. "They only have a little more training in the sense that they are paid to go to college."

The lower level of training is more than made up by what Byers and other volunteers describe as superior dedication.

Self-respect

Greenbelt's volunteers have respect for themselves, even if respect from their paid counterparts or from the community-at-large is not forthcoming. They know that two-thirds of the time, it is their responsibility to put out the fires and to provide first aid and hospital transport to endangered lives within their service area. They say they run more than half of the station's calls. The county's increasing control of the fire and rescue service has eroded their autonomy, but in the populated northern half of the county, independent fire companies are still relied on. One officer said that "if it weren't for the volunteers, the county's fire and rescue system would fall apart."

Most of the fire and rescue volunteers of Greenbelt's Company 35 are from Greenbelt, although some live in nearby communities. The bulk of the front-line duty is handled by a core of young men between 18 and 32 years of age. They have completed at least 144 hours of formal training in basic firefighting, advanced first aid and CPR. Periodic recertification for advanced first aid and CPR is required.

Those driving the fire engines have completed a minimum of 36 hours of additional training. Some volunteers have completed higher level courses such as EMT (Emergency Medical Technician), tactics and advanced rescue.

Most impressive about these volunteers is the early start most of them had as firefighters. Eddie Meier, now 22, and the station's deputy fire chief, started out as a 13-year-old junior associate. John Michael Crisman, 18, Sgt. James Strachko, 27, Cap-

City Agrees to Site, Landscape Plans For Parcel 15; Looks at State Bills

by Mavis Fletcher

At the regular meeting on February 22, the Greenbelt city council approved the site and landscape plans for Belle Pointe, a development which will include townhouses and commercial construction on Parcel 15. This tract of land lies south of the lake and is bounded by Greenbelt Road, the Beltway and the Beltway exit to Kenilworth Avenue. The developed areas abutting Parcel 15 include Charlestowne Village, Charlestowne North (the high-rise apartment building overlooking the lake), and the American Legion.

The city's Advisory Planning Board (APB) had recommended approval of the site and landscape plans submitted by the Milton Company, developer of the tract. However, the APB attached some recommendations which included city approval of signs, revegetation of disturbed areas, screening of dumpsters, placement of sidewalks and landscaping of a 12 ft. berm which will separate the development from the city's lake park. The city staff added concerns about the drainage along the berm (which might divert storm water onto city park property), and about a jog in a parking lot exit into a planned traffic circle.

The Milton Company was represented at the meeting by Edward Gibbs, Jr., of Linowes and Blocher. In response to questions by Councilmember Edward Putens, Gibbs stated that the light which will be needed at Lakecrest Drive and Greenbelt Road will be installed when the State Highway Administration determines that it is needed; in the meantime, the Milton Company will be required to put up an amount of money which will cover the cost of installing the light. He went on to say that Charlestowne Village intends to pave the gravel area when the construction is complete and the Milton Company will leave the area in condition to be paved.

Representatives of the Charlestowne Village owners association also appeared before the council to voice several concerns. Richard White, spokesman for the group, said the board was worried about whether the light at Lakecrest Drive would be installed, about destruction of trees, whether the planned buffer strip would be too thin and about loss of parking space in the gravel area which will be disturbed during construction.

Although Gibbs outlined the many contacts and attempts to inform the Charlestowne Village residents about the construction plans over the last two years, Putens and Councilmember Antoinette Bram expressed their unwillingness to approve the site plan until the reservations of the residents had been met. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld found a compromise solution when he suggested that consideration of the site plan be interrupted while the Charlestowne board members and Gibbs attempted to come to a meeting of the minds.

When the Charlestowne Village board members returned to the council chambers, they reported that Gibbs had succeeded in answering their concerns and they had no objection to approval of the site and landscaping plan. Gibbs suggested that another condition be added to the APB's list in order to alleviate one of the board members' worries. This condition would be a prohibition against using the gravel area for through traffic for construction vehicles. With

by Mavis Fletcher

The Greenbelt East Action Committee (GEAC) meeting on March 3 heard a presentation by representatives of developer Michael Rose, outlining plans for development of three parcels along Hanover Parkway. The three parcels, containing in all 21.63 acres, lie to the south of Hunting Ridge condominiums and west of Hanover Parkway.

The developer, Michael T. Rose and Associates, is seeking rezoning of the tracts to R-18C. According to Celia Wilson, the city's Planning and Development Coordinator, the R-18C zoning category allows apartments with a density of up to 20 units per acre. Wilson said that two of the parcels (one of 16.08 and the other with 3.09 acres) are currently zoned Rural Residential, which allows 2.17 units per acre. The third tract (2.275 acres) is zoned R-30, a designation which allows for garden apartments with a maximum density of 10 units per acre.

Cynthia M. Jurrius of the law firm Fossett & Brugger, who represented the developer, stated that a strong case can be made for rezoning on the basis of changes in the neighborhood since the last general rezoning in 1949. "Change in the neighborhood is the criteria," (sic), she argued.

The members of GEAC, however, pointed out the impact of the increased traffic on Hanover Parkway, which, according to the statements of residents who live there, is almost gridlocked at the Greenbelt Road intersection in the rush hour. David Lychenheim of Windsor Green protested against developers who, he said, come in and try to maximize the density and the profits. "Density has an impact on everyone," he said.

The plan Jurrius presented showed some 450 condominium units on the three parcels. Jurrius displayed elevations of some of the planned structures which, she indicated, would contain 14 or more units per building. Jurrius said the units would range from one bedroom (possibly with a loft) to two bedroom, two bath units.

Among the amenities shown on the site plan were a swimming pool and a building Jurrius said would be a combination bathhouse and clubhouse. Also shown was a pond, which she characterized as "partly for stormwater management." Arlene Pederson of Greenwood Village reminded the group that a shallow pond such as this one would have to have a 6-foot chainlink fence around it and would probably be dry much of the time.

GEAC Position

Jurrius said that the developer would like an expression of support from the homeowners or at least specifics about changes the homeowners would want in order to gain their support. Greenbelt city council member Edward Putens pointed out that the homeowners would be supporting vastly increased density over the limitation imposed by the current zoning: some 450 units as opposed to an estimated 140 units. (Actually, according to Wilson, present zoning would limit the number of units to less than 100 and most would have to be single family homes.) On a unanimous vote, GEAC members voted to recommend to their associations that the boards of directors oppose any rezoning which would increase the density on undeveloped parcels along Hanover Parkway.

Other Topics

Robert Zugby raised some procedural questions at the beginning of the meeting. He queried whether there was any sentiment for meeting twice a month instead of the current once-a-month meeting. He noted that two meetings a month would help keep the agenda current and would afford a better chance to act on topics in a timely manner. He didn't get any takers.

The members agreed, however, that the affairs of the committee required a designated secretary. They elected Pederson to that office by acclamation.

Dorothy Pyles of Greenbriar raised a question about getting the brush and undergrowth cleared out of Greenbriar Park, which lies at the corner of Mandan Road and Hanover Parkway. The undergrowth is considered a hazard because it could provide cover for criminal activities. Zugby reported that he had inquired of the city about the status of this request, which had been made previously, but he had no answer at the time of the meeting.

Contract Awarded for Next Part of Metro Green Line

The Metro board has awarded a $40,560,000 contract for tunnels for a portion of the Green Line between the future Fort Totten and West Hyattsville Stations. The contractor, J.F. Shea Co., Inc. of Bethesda will build the mile-long tunnels beginning at Gallatin and Eighth Streets, N.E. in the District and ending just past Russell Avenue in Prince Georges County. Most of the property affected by this construction is owned by the National Park Service or Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The Green Line is scheduled to open between Gallery Place and U Street-Howard University in late 1990; between Gallery Place and Anacostia in late 1991; and between Fort Totten and Greenbelt in late 1993. Segments between U Street-Howard University and Fort Totten and between Anacostia and Branch Avenue will be built when funding is available.

Pre-Sale Orientation Before GHI Board Again

by Mavis Fletcher

At an unusually short meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on March 10, the board again discussed methods of changing GHI's pre-sale orientation for prospective members. Manager Ron Colton's report to the board noted that information about the cooperative would "ideally" be given to interested buyers before they had signed a sales contract. Colton emphasized that buyers should be adequately briefed on the nature of a cooperative and what the members can and cannot expect in the way of maintenance and other services.

To accomplish this goal, Colton proposed a new briefing technique which would separate the information session from the buyer's financial qualification interview. He said that the present practice of combining these aspects results in a long session during which the buyers are in danger of being overloaded with information. Colton indicated that the information sessions would probably be held on Saturday mornings to accommodate weekend househunters. The board also discussed the possibility of making a video tape which realtors could show to prospective clients.

Director Mac Wirick said he liked the idea of a video tape because it would make it easy for realtors to get accurate information to the buyers before they signed a sales contract. Director Nancy Hutchins pointed out that it is in the interest of the seller that a prospective member be fully informed so that the contract is not endangered by problems of an unwilling buyer. She suggested that management enlist members selling their homes to help ensure that buyers attend the information session before signing the contract.

The board directed the manager to bring to the board a detailed plan for a new orientation program. This program will be discussed at a later board meeting.

Clark Financial Services

The board authorized the use of a recognition agreement with Clark Financial Services, adding another source of financing for GHI units. This firm joins Share Loan Service Corporation, Greenbelt Federal Credit Union and Citicorp Savings of Washington, D.C. as principal sources of loans on homes in the cooperative.

Colton affirmed to the board that the recognition agreement proposed by Clark Financial "clearly gives the co-op protection" against losses due to a member's default. The board approved the recognition agreement by majority vote with only Director Chuck Hess opposed.

CDBG Funds Supported

The board went on record as supporting continued full funding of the Community Development Block Grant program and opposing any further cuts in the program. This support had been requested in a letter from the United States Conference of Mayors, the National League of Cities and the National Association of Counties. Colton noted that CDBG funds had played a large part in upgrading playgrounds in GHI, resurfacing streets, and replacing sidewalks in the last decade. The board voted 6 to 1 to express their support to the area Congressional representatives. Hess opposed the motion, saying that, in view of the federal government's problem with the deficit, it would be unwise to oppose cuts in any program, however worthy. (Director Alan Freas, Jr. was unavoidably absent from the meeting.)

Other Items

The board approved by unanimous vote a motion to place a historic marker on or near the unit at 1-G Gardenway, the first home to be occupied in 1937. The board also took under consideration a suggestion by member Leta Mach that a marker also be placed in the 33 Court of Ridge in commemoration of a visit by President Franklin D. Roosevelt during construction of the town.

Colton informed the board that GHI had received a payment from the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund on its account in the defunct First Maryland Savings and Loan. This reduces by approximately half the amount owed to GHI, and Colton said the remainder is expected to be repaid by December 1989.

Home Equity Loans

Colton also said that Citicorp has started taking applications for purchase loans, refinances, and home equity lines of credit for GHI homes. This firm is the

Lake Park Rules of Use And Parking Procedures

City ordinances regulating use of the lake park are posted at the Concession Stand. These regulations are for the protection of the park and benefit all by insuring proper conduct and use. Everyone's cooperation is appreciated. The park is closed between the hours of 11 pm and 5 am unless otherwise posted. Special Greenbelt programs and special activities requiring a city permit have first priority use over all Lake Park facilities.

Specific activities that are prohibited include: 1) Alcoholic beverages, loitering, wading, swimming and horseback riding; 2) Building of charcoal fires, picnicking, ball playing, motor vehicle traffic and parking are permitted in designated areas only; 3) Fireworks and firearms; 4) Dogs must be kept on a leash at all times; 5) Damaging park property including natural resources and city fixtures; 6) Selling merchandise, soliciting contributions or distributing circulars without city permission. Greenbelt residents are re-first to offer home equity lines to housing cooperatives in this area.

The board of directors will meet next on March 21; April meetings will be held on the 7th and 21st (1st and 3rd Thursdays) instead of the regular meeting dates on the 2nd and 4th Thursdays. The change was made to avoid conflict with National Cooperative Business Association and National Cooperative Bank meetings which some directors will attend.

minded that permits may be obtained at the Greenbelt Police Department for use of the permit parking area at Greenbelt Lake. There is a fee which is larger for non-residents. Identification is required. While it is expected that adequate spaces will be available to accommodate all permit holders on a first-come, first-serve basis and on special occasions, all spaces might be occupied.

The permit parking area was established so that Greenbelt residents could drive to the Lake Park on busy weekends and have a parking space available. Public parking spaces are expected to be scarce, as parking is prohibited between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays along Crescent Road, Lastner Lane and Ivy Lane in the vicinity of the Lake Park.

CITY NOTES

Members of the general and special details crew assisted the short-staffed regular and special trash crews with trash collection, worked on drainage at McDonald Field and erected the scoreboard.

In preparation for spring activities the parks crew worked on ball and athletic fields; and the horticulturist is setting his annual plants in the cold-frame greenhouse and the windows of the Public Works warehouse.

Due to spring cleanup, residents made numerous requests for special pickups and the city had two trash crews out recently.

Requests for the Greenbelt Connection are increasing each week.

The city's three underground fuel tanks were recently tested for leaks, as required by law. All passed inspection and will not require another inspection for five years.

Under the leadership of Cubmaster Gil Green and new Assistant Cubmaster George Saunders, Cub Scout Pack 1253 is growing and busier than ever. Recently, the pack welcomed two new members — Dontrell Green and Matthew Ficarella, while Jason Tanner and Michael Allen were inducted into Webelos. Vernon Ghee was honored for achieving the rank of Webelos.

This Spring the Scouts will explore the theme "The World Around Us" as they travel to the zoo, NASA, a kite derby, and Wrestlemania, and learn how to plant a garden at the clubhouse. The Webelos will enjoy overnight camping and all of the Cubs will compete in the Pinewood Derby and the Rain-gutter Regatta. Many of the boys are already preparing for a week of camping in July.

Parents of those boys in Grades 2-5 who would like to become Cub Scouts may call Gil Green on 474-0870. The next pack meeting will be on March 24 at the Springhill Lake Elementary School.

Sunrise Easter Service Will be Held at Lake-Park

The Greenbelt clergy will sponsor an ecumenical Easter Sunrise Service at the Buddy Attick Park (Greenbelt Lake) on April 3, at 7 a.m. In case of inclement weather, it will be held at the Greenbelt Baptist Church. Participating clergy are from the following churches: Berwyn Presbyterian, Greenbelt Community, Mowatt United Methodist, and Greenbelt Baptist. The public is invited.

Maundy Thursday Services Held at Community Ch.

Greenbelt Community Church will offer the sacrament of Holy Communion and the Order of Tenebrae on Thursday, March 31 at 7:30 p.m. Communion is open to all. "Tenebrae", the Latin term for "shadows," is a simple service of lessons accompanied by the gradual extinguishing of candles. The readings vividly recount the events from the Last Supper through the crucifixion of Jesus, leaving participants in darkness to anticipate the dawn of New Life at Easter, according to Dan Hamlin, pastor.

POLICE BLOTTER

Partial Listing Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

A Greenbelt man saw a male suspect beating a woman in the parking lot at Beltway Plaza at about 11 p.m. on March 12. The resident attempted to stop the assault, and was assaulted by the suspect who then fled across Greenbelt Road. The Greenbelt man caught up with the assailant near the Fireside restaurant where the suspect cut the pursuers nose with an unidentified object. The suspect, the woman who had been assaulted, and another man then drove off in a white Mercury Taurus or Sable.

On March 14 a non-resident male juvenile got into an argument with two men at the Beltway Plaza Mall. One of the men placed a gun (later found to be a BB gun) at the head of the juvenile. The men were subsequently identified and voluntarily responded to the police department where they turned in the gun. The suspects were released pending further investigation.

Officer Mark Lagerwerff, responding to a complaint on March 12 of a domestic dispute in the Parkway Road area, arrested a male resident for assaulting a woman. The man also assaulted the officer and then fled the area. Warrants were obtained charging the man with battery. He was arrested and turned over to the Sheriff's Department.

Sgt. John A. Lann and Officer Michael Lanier responded to a complaint about a suspicious person in the 7500 block of Greenbelt Road. Lann saw the man throw something under a vehicle; the object later was found and was believed to be cocaine. The Virginia man was arrested and incarcerated in lieu of $2,500 bond.

A Washington, D.C. woman was arrested for trespass on March 12 when she caused a disturbance at the Greenbelt Hilton and Towers. Officer Thomas Moreland made the arrest after the woman several times refused to leave. She was incarcerated in lieu of bond.

On March 9 a resident male was arrested by Officer Robert Musterman for attempted theft from an auto. The man was seen entering an unlocked vehicle without the owner's permission, and was apprehended after the officer saw him leaving the vehicle. The man was released on his own recognizance. The incident took place in the 44 Court of Ridge Road.

An attempted breaking and entering occurred on March 15 at about 11:30 a.m. in the 8300 block of Channing Terrace. The suspect was described as a white male in his 20's, 5'10" with medium build, dark hair and a full beard, wearing a mustard-colored winter coat and a dark-colored knit hat.

On March 10 between 10 a.m. and 12:40 p.m. the following day, a Md. license plate, RYA 197, was stolen from a vehicle in the 9100 block of Springhill Lane.

A breaking and entering occurred in the 7300 block of Sunrise Court on March 17 between 9:20 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. A ground-level patio glass door was broken to gain entry. A TV, money and jewelry were reported taken.

Merchandise was stolen from a store in Greenway Shopping Center after someone threw a rock through the front glass door of the store. The theft was reported on March 14 at 4:44 a.m.

At 6:50 a.m. on March 10 an attempted theft of an auto took place on Mandan Road at Hanover Parkway.

On March 18 in the 6000 block of Springhill Dr. a windshield was broken out of a vehicle.

An in-dash stereo unit was stolen from a vehicle parked in the 6400 block of Ivy Lane on March 14 during business hours. A similar unit was stolen from a vehicle in the 7400 block of Greenbelt Road during the early evening hours of March 15. Jewelry was removed from the trunk of a car parked in the 7400 block of Greenway Center Dr. on March 13. The theft was reported at 6:25 p.m.

Cpl. William D. Allwang witnessed a shoplifting at Best Products in Beltway Plaza on Mar. 11. A non-resident male was arrested for the theft. On Mar. 13 two suspects stole five portable TV's from the same store. The suspects were described as a black male in his 30's, 5' tall weighing 170 lbs. with black hair, brown eyes, dark complexion, close-cropped hair, wearing a ¾ length coat and blue jeans; the other suspect was a black female wearing a red jacket.

Non-resident males were arrested in two incidents of shoplifting which occurred in the Safeway and at Shoe Town in the Greenway Shopping Center.

FIRE & RESCUE

tain Randy Krob, 29, and Assistant Chief Dickie Wynkoop, 29, also started out as 13-year-old junior associates.

According to Meier, the initial commitment of becoming a firefighter is the hardest. "When you first join, it's real demanding," he said. "It plays with your time."

The chance to prove valiant at a fire scene or accident is their aspiration, but pride in their day-to-day role of helping people in less dramatic situations keeps them going at their job. Many calls they run arise out of caution rather than a need that is readily apparent. Two of the job's most unpleasant aspects, they say, are being robbed of sleep by an early morning call, and getting splashed with water at a fire scene on a cold night. Meier said that seeing the fatalities and other serious casualties is the hardest part of the job, especially if the victim is "someone you know."

Tradition

What gives firefighting its enduring charm is tradition. All the important elements of that tradition long connected with folklore are witnessed at the firehouse — live-in quarters, a gear rack, and red fire engines. A volunteer is bonded to that tradition every time he reaches for his own gear on the rack, or when he climbs on an engine with a few other volunteers. A bonding between volunteers also develops around the engine. Assistant Chief Wynkoop recalled when he, Meier, and Krob were tagged the Three Musketeers during their days together as junior associates, because as soon as they got their chance to ride the engine they would always get on it together.

Being a live-in at the station also fosters close ties. Carl Anderson, 20, a full-time student at Prince Georges Community College, and Billy Mims, were friends before they joined the department as junior associates six years ago. Now, as live-ins, these two and Byers form a mini-team of their own.

There are about fifty-six volunteers still listed as active, but only about 20 are regulars. The young men most frequently at the station are a blend of older volunteers like Wynkoop, Meier, and Krob; younger volunteers like Byers, Anderson, and Mims and the junior associate group who are between 13 and 18. There is plenty of interaction between the older and younger volunteers, and group activities like softball enhance the fraternal spirit.

As a volunteer firefighter, couple of friends around; you're Meier, said. "You always have a never left out in the cold."

State Tax Offices Open Extra Hours

Extra hours of free assistance will be offered through the April 15 filing deadline to handle the crowds at Maryland State Tax offices. They will be open until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday as an added convenience to taxpayers.

Opportunities for free assistance include Good Friday, April 1, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.; Saturday, April 2, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.; Monday, April 4, 4:30-7 p.m. (phone assistance only); Saturday, April 9, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.; Monday, April 11, 4:30-7 p.m. (phone assistance only); and deadline Friday, April 15, 8:30 a.m.-9 p.m.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein offered other important tips for taxpayers: do returns in ink; complete federal return first, then Maryland return; taxpayers 65 or over should remember to check the box in the upper right corner of the Maryland long form; if qualified to use the tax tables, be sure to use the correct table for filing status; double-check all calculations; itemizers must include a copy of their federal Schedule A with their Maryland return; be sure to sign return; and use the yellow address label, if it's correct (using the label can speed up a refund check by a week).

Individual Maryland returns can be completed free of charge for citizens who bring completed copies of their federal returns and all W-2 statements.

The addresses and telephone numbers of all 15 Maryland income tax offices are listed on the back of the state tax packet and in most telephone directories. The statewide toll-free number for free state assistance is 1-800-MD TAXES.

At what age does a child get braces?

The need for orthodontic treatment must be determined on an individual basis. Your family dentist will evaluate your child as part of a complete oral examination. If any variation from normal is found, a consultation with an orthodontist may be suggested.

Both length and type of treatment are variable. There is no exact age or even a range of years to begin treatment. In fact, many adults are undergoing orthodontic treatment with complete success. However, this doesn't mean that treatment can be postponed at will.

The most important factor to successful treatment is early diagnosis. By carefully monitoring and guiding both the eruption of the teeth and growth of the jaw, it is possible to control and minimize treatment time. Following observation and guidance, not all children will require complete braces, while some will need no braces at all.

Council Looks at State Bills

this condition included, Councilmember Thomas X. White made a motion to approve the plans. The motion carried unanimously.

Police Pension Bills

Two bills (SB 571 and SB 539) which had been introduced into the Maryland legislature would allow police officers to retire after 25 years of service. Police officers are at present in the regular state retirement plans which require 30 years of service for full benefits. City Manager James K. Giese indicated that there are unanswered questions concerning both bills and recommended that the council oppose any bill which requires the city to join the plan without the consent of the city or its employees.

Sgt. John A. Lann, president of the local Fraternal Order of Police lodge, appeared in support of SB 539, which he described as "an FOP bill." White, glancing through the bill which had not been available until Lann handed out copies, noted that the bill had no estimates of the funding liability which the city would incur under its provisions. Weidenfeld also said that the city would have to know the fiscal impact before supporting any bill. Mayor pro tem Joseph Isaacs moved to defer action on the bill pending further study. The motion passed unanimously.

Universal Registration

Under another bill pending in the Maryland legislature (HB 24), separate voter registration for city elections would be abolished and any voter registered with the county (for county, state and national elections) would be eligible to vote in the city elections. This change would increase the eligible city electorate from some 3000 registered voters to some 12,000.

In the past, the council has opposed such universal registration bills. Several members expressed their reservations again at this meeting. Bram maintained that the task of contacting 9,000 additional voters will "shut out the people who can run for peanuts." She cited an example in another, unspecified municipality where candidates had had to go to developers for campaign donations when universal registration had drastically increased the number of voters they had to contact. Putens said that spending "does escalate" when the candidate has so many voters to appeal to. White noted that registration in the county is for partisan elections and feared that a partisan influence might be introduced into city elections by the use of voter rolls compiled by party. City Clerk Gudrun Mills, however, said that the county would be able to give the city the voter rolls without party designation, if desired.

Isaacs, on the other hand, indicated he was less opposed than he had been to the concept of universal registration; he asked his colleagues if they wouldn't rather have more people voting in the city elections. His position was supported by Keith Chernikoff, who ran for a council seat last year, and Ruth Kastner, a community activist.

Weidenfeld and others on the council argued that everyone in the city who wants to vote can do so since registration is made so easy. Weidenfeld also pointed out that this bill is another example of state officials imposing their rules on municipalities and that its passage will "encourage them to impose other measures on us."

A motion opposing the bill was made by White and seconded by Bram. It passed 4-1, with Isaacs opposed.

Other Legislation

The council voted to support other bills in the legislature as follows: legislation to exempt municipalities from the county energy tax bill; a bill which would require home delivery food companies (for example, pizza purveyors) to have auto accident insurance or to post a bond with the county; to establish a state police training academy funded by a $5 increase in court costs.

The council voted to oppose a bill which would defer tax increases for owners of property rezoned to the Comprehensive Design Zone category until the property is developed. The council also opposed a bill which would prohibit a public body from meeting in closed session to discuss appointments or the resignation of appointees. The city staff pointed out that this provision would, among other things, prohibit private interviews or consideration of appointments to the city advisory boards.

Other Actions

The council deferred renewal of the Green Ridge House management contract with Community Realty until the residents association has a chance to express its views.

The council received a recommendation from Giese to amend the city's position classification plan to designate job classes as fixed salary basis or hourly pay basis. The designations are required to comply with the Fair Labor Standards Act. The council will consider the recommendation at its next meeting.

4-H Volunteers Needed

The Prince Georges County 4-H program is seeking volunteers to organize or assist with 4-H programs in the Greenbelt and Beltsville areas.

All youths regardless of race, sex, handicap, religion, age or national origin are encouraged to join a 4-H club; adults interested in working with youths can also become 4-H leaders. For information call 863-9636.

We hear that all sorts of teams are working down in Florida these days. The Naval Academy's baseball team, the Mids, opened their spring training with a 6-5 win over Purdue. Senior Mike Schultz from Greenbelt led the way with two hits and a pair of RBIs. He leads the Mids in runs scored and extra base hits. Attaboy Mike!

Amy Pvt. 1st Class Arnold T. Wright, along with his family, has arrived for duty with the 52nd Air Defense Artillery in West Germany. His wife Kelly is the daughter of Eve Murphy of Greenbelt.

Martin J. Grenchik, son of Thomas and Josephine Grenchik of Tamarisk Court, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the U.S. Air Force. A 1980 graduate of Pallotti High School and a 1983 graduate of Maryland, he is now a pilot with the 3rd Tactical Fighter Squadron, Philippines. Congratulations!

Also distinguishing herself in the military is Army Sgt. Dianne M. Miller who has been named noncommissioned officer of the quarter for the 214th Field Artillery Brigade. The selection was based on her exemplary duty performance, job knowledge and leadership ability. She is an observation and scout helicopter repairer with the 158th Battalion at Fort Sill in Oklahoma. Her mother Kathy Sargent lives on Crescent Road. Congratulations!

Springhill Lake has honored two employees as Employees of the Month. Derrick Brown, who has been at Springhill Lake for two years, was cited for his hardworking attitude and alertness to the surrounding environment. He has had special training in carpentry, maintenance, plumbing and electrical work. Dave Rich came to Springhill Lake eight months ago and has already earned recognition for his quick response to emergencies and his good attitude. A tip of the hat to these two for jobs well done!

Free Legal Help Available For Low Income Persons

The Prince George's County Bar Association has a Pro-bono project that provides free legal services to low income residents of this county for civil cases. The project is administered by the County Bar Association office in conjunction with Prince Georges County "Legal Aid Bureau, Inc.," which provides a fulltime legal assistant to screen and assign cases to attorneys through the project.

The phone number to call to inquire about free legal services for civil cases is 927-6800. Intake days and times for screenings are Mondays from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and 2 to 4 p.m.

An individual's eligibility for free legal assistance is determined by income, the number of dependents living within the household and the type of case involved. The project handles mainly domestic relations cases, as well as some debt collection defense cases. Bankruptcy cases are on an advice-only basis.

The gross income guidelines used to determine eligibility for services are the same as those used by the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., and they are published annually, with adjustments, in the Federal Register.

Persons eligible for free legal services are referred by the project to private attorneys within the county, who are members of the Prince Georges County Bar Association.

Better Benefits Proposed For Vol. Firefighters

County Executive Parr's Glendening and County Councilman Kirk Wineland have announced a proposal to increase benefits dramatically for veteran volunteer firefighters. These would be the first improvements to the program since it began in 1974.

Glendening explained that the improvements are designed to strengthen the public safety program by making volunteer firefighting more attractive both to new recruits and to experienced firefighters. The proposed improvements will be submitted to the county council for approval.

The Length of Service Award Program provides a monthly payment to volunteers who have served at least 25 years as firefighters. The improvements would increase monthly payments from $100 to $200 at a rate of $25 increase per year until 1992; replace ad hoc annual bonus with an automatic cost-of-living adjustment equal to that paid to salaried firefighters; double maximum monthly payment from $150 to $300; and increase death benefit from $2500 to $3000.

The Free Advice Column

(Worth Every Penny)

by G. R. Eenbelt, MD

Dear Doc:

My cat, Yonkers, likes to sleep on my bed. He gets there by jumping on two dressers, the window sill, and the night table, not necessarily in that order. Why doesn't he just walk in the door and hop on the bed?

Purrplexed

Dear Purrplexed:

What you are seeing here is the behavior of a creature governed by primitive instincts, a barely domesticated being only quite recently evolved from the wild state. On the other hand, Yonkers may just be trying to drive you bonkers.

G.R.E.

Dear Doc:

My teenager comes home from school every day and locks herself in her room, and turns her boombox on full blast. She claims she's doing her homework.

Should I believe her?

Mandan Mom

Dear M. M.

What you are seeing here is the behavior of a creature governed by primitive instincts, a barely domesticated being only quite recently evolved from the wild state. Hey, haven't I answered this question before?

G.R.E.

Sir or Madam:

Who do you think you are to be giving advice in this paper? What are your qualifications? What makes you such an expert? I don't believe you're a doctor, even. In fact I had a duck who could quack better than you.

Punchin' Judy

Dear Punch:

I never said I was a physician. The MD stands for the state in which I live, not to mention my state of mind. Go back to your own column like a good kid and stay out of my space.

G.R.E.
